D. KEYPUNCH CARD LAYOUTS FOR QUESTIONNAIRE DATA
KEYPUNCHED AT THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

This section contain copies of card layouts for questionnaire data key-punched at the SEC. Data keypunched in the SEC came from two sources. Most Study questionnaires contained data-element lists and card layouts for all or part of the data to be keypunched by the respondent. In some cases additional data in a questionnaire were keypunched in the SEC for the Study. The card layouts for these additional data are included in Part D. Layouts for data keypunched by respondents are included with the questionnaire in Section B of this supplement. Form I-57 is an example of a questionnaire that had some data punched by respondents and some data punched in the SEC.

In the case of some other questionnaires, such as Form I-6, none of the data was keypunched by respondents. Card layouts for those questionnaires in which all of the data were keypunched in the SEC are also included in Section D.

In each case the card layouts shown here should be matched with the format of each question as found in the questionnaire in Section B. Hence, a field designated "COLUMN A" in the card layout for Form I-57, Table III, refers to question 23, which calls for a particular response in that column of Table III. Question 23 and Table III should be referred to for explanation of that field.

There is one exception to this relationship between the card layouts in Section D and the original questionnaire form. Form I-60 Table A1 card layouts as sent to respondents are included in Section B of this supplement but subsequently the card codes for these data were changed. The correct layouts are designated "I-60 (68)" and are included in Section D. Also included in Section D are card layouts designated "I-60 (60)" for other Form I-60 data which were keypunched at the SEC.
